

For people who write and edit documents everyday

How much effort do you spend struggling to get documents to look just right? To copy and paste from other documents while preserving consistent, professional look and feel?

Author Max™ development was driven by customers who need faster production of more effective documents at lower cost. Author Max™ has been adopted as a standard for document creation and maintenance in leading enterprises.

Author Max™

More Time Creating Value; Less Time Struggling with Word

Author Max™ enables knowledge workers – consultants, managers, writers and other professionals – to work faster and more productively by leveraging the capabilities of Microsoft Word, and eliminating many of the roadblocks that plague Word users.

Who Created Author Max™?

The same team that invented conditional text for Microsoft Word, component building blocks for Word, structured authoring in Word and many other tools. Author Max™ is already field-proven in the most demanding work environments.
